

Michael was always thinking outside the box and very creative in his approach to problem solving and using the latest technology to achieve higher than expected results. His ability to connect his manufacturing skill with his engineering ability made for a cost-effective solution. He is a great person to work with, fully committed to meeting his goals in any project and in life. I would highly recommend Michael for any project requiring advanced problem solving with an efficient budget. You will not be disappointed.

Roger Chafe

Senior Manufacturing Engineer at Sturm Ruger & Co., Inc